Safer Recruitment for school staff & governors

SCH LEAD160

Description:

This face to face training session will be delivered by our new trainer Steve Eccleston.

For schools and academies there are significant issues around recruitment practice and about maintaining a culture that deters abuse. This whole day session reflects the latest DfE statutory guidance 'Keeping Children Safe in Education' which came into effect on 3rd September 2018. It is not a course on recruitment per se, but on aspects that will ensure safer recruitment and will provide a valuable insight into how to monitor and evaluate the school's recruitment practices and wider safeguarding issues. Under the new guidance, governing bodies (of LA maintained schools) must still ensure that at least one member of a recruitment panel has undertaken 'appropriate' safer recruitment training and successful completion of this session would meet that requirement. Participation will be evidence for Ofsted and other stakeholders that the school takes its responsibilities seriously.

Objectives:

This course will:

- illustrate how abusers of children operate using the Finklehor model
- apply the model to the recruitment process to help schools make every stage more robust
- enable schools to develop a predict and prevent approach to safeguarding rather than find and fix
- test participants' knowledge and understanding of safer recruitment/safeguarding and provide a certificate noting their grades

Outcomes:

By the end of the course participants will:

- have been briefed on current guidance and had opportunities to consider implications for practice
- have identified practical tools to ensure that their recruitment processes are robust and that appointment decisions are based on sound evidence
- have evaluated current practice in their schools and have developed an action plan to consolidate strengths and tackle areas of vulnerability

Additional information:

Steve was a police officer and worked for many years in Public Protection dealing with child abuse investigation and the management of child sex offenders. Since leaving the police, Steve has worked for a number of safeguarding boards and partnerships across the country in support of their multi-agency safeguarding arrangements. Steve has also worked with schools and charities in relation to safeguarding arrangements, and has been the safeguarding governor at his local school for many years.

Steve is accredited by the Safer Recruitment Consortium to deliver this course.
